ICCV 2023 will be a unique opportunity to discover the latest ideas and innovations in the community, to connect, to recruit, to get inspiration and to inspire. If you want to be part of this exciting event and build your organization's brand with the world's leaders in the field, consider the exhibition and sponsoring opportunities that ICCV 2023 is offering.

NUMBER OF ATTENDEES

WHICH ORGANIZATIONS SHOULD PARTICIPATE?

From global companies to start-ups coming out of stealth, from public organizations to scientific publishers, the sponsorship and exhibition opportunities at ICCV 2023 should appeal to all players in the computer vision and machine learning community.

To demonstrate new technologies, products or services, to attract talents, customers or partners, in a wide range of fields such as health, automotive, defense, communication, media and retail among others.

ICCV 2023 will bring to Paris more than 6000 members of the computer vision and machine learning community: students, researchers, engineers, entrepreneurs, investors, thought leaders and visionaries who strive to make AI for scene understanding, pattern recognition, image processing, etc., always better, sounder and more applicable. In 2019, the last in-presence version of this biennial event brought in Seoul more than 7500 attendees from around 60 countries and more than 70 exhibitors from a wide range of industries and regions.
